Sudell Eco News

As you know, we are working hard towards getting our first Green Flag for being an Eco-School. It is quite an involved process and one of the questions we have been asked is how do parents feel their children have benefitted from the Eco work that has been carried out over the last couple of years. If any of you would like to help Mrs Ryder with that question she will be very grateful!

Is your child on the Eco Committee or a regular attendee of the lunchtime Eco Club? Do they take part in any of Mrs Ryder's Eco Nurture groups in the afternoon? Have they been awarded the Eco Warrior Cup? Have they helped with the planting of seeds, herbs, vegetables, bulbs, trees or indoor plants? Have they enjoyed the challenge of discussing the weekly eco topics in class and learning more about environmental issues? Have actions such as Switch-Off Fortnight, Litter Picking, classroom paper and plastics recycling and using compost caddies encouraged children to save energy and reduce waste at home as well as at school? Do children have more awareness of environmental problems and if so, do they feel more knowledgeable and confident about how to make a positive difference to help improve our world - both now and in the future, locally as well as globally? If you'd like to comment on any of these, please write down what you think and leave a note with the school office and it will be passed on to Mrs Ryder.

In the meantime, here are this month's winners of the Eco Warrior Cup - for saving energy, encouraging others to do the same, and reducing the use of single-use plastic at lunchtime. They are certainly following our school eco motto: We can make a difference! 🌱♻️

KIDS CAN TOO
SAVE ENERGY

Living With COVID

The past 2 years have seen many necessary restrictions imposed on everyday life to manage COVID-19, but these have come with a huge toll on wellbeing and economic output. Scientists (including virologists, epidemiologists, clinicians, and many others) and the Government now understand more about COVID-19, how it behaves and how it can be treated. As the virus continues to evolve, it will be important to continue to add to this understanding.

Living with and managing the virus will mean maintaining the population's wall of protection and communicating safer behaviours that the public can follow to manage risk. The Government will move away from deploying regulations and requirements in England and replace specific interventions for COVID-19 with public health measures and guidance.

The Government is able to take this step now because of the success of the vaccination programme, and the suite of pharmaceutical tools the NHS can deploy to treat people who are most vulnerable to COVID-19 and the most severely ill (see chapter 4). The Government can only take these steps because it will retain contingency capabilities and will respond as necessary to further resurgences or worse variants of the virus (see chapter 5).

Removing the last domestic restrictions

The Government will remove remaining domestic restrictions in England, subject to appropriate parliamentary scrutiny.

From 24 February, the Government will:

- a. Remove the legal requirement to self-isolate following a positive test. Adults and children who test positive will continue to be advised to stay at home and avoid contact with other people. After 5 days, they may choose to take a Lateral Flow Device (LFD) followed by another the next day - if both are negative, and they do not have a temperature, they can safely return to their normal routine. Those who test positive should avoid contact with anyone in an at risk group, including if they live in the same household. There will be specific guidance for staff in particularly vulnerable services, such as adult social care, healthcare, and prisons and places of detention.
- b. No longer ask fully vaccinated close contacts and those under the age of 18 to test daily for 7 days, and remove the legal requirement for close contacts who are not fully vaccinated to self-isolate. Guidance will set out the precautions that those who live in the same household as someone who has COVID-19, or who have stayed overnight in the same household, are advised to take to reduce risk to other people. Other contacts of people with COVID-19 will be advised to take extra care in following general guidance for the public on safer behaviours.

- c. End self-isolation support payments and national funding for practical support. The medicine delivery service will no longer be available. People who were instructed to self-isolate before this date will still be able to claim support payments within the next 42 days.
 - d. Revoke The Health Protection (Coronavirus, Restrictions) (England) (No. 3) Regulations. Local authorities will continue to manage local outbreaks of COVID-19 in high risk settings as they do with other infectious diseases.
39. From 24 March, the COVID-19 provisions within Statutory Sick Pay and Employment and Support Allowance regulations will end. People with COVID-19 may still be eligible, subject to the normal conditions of entitlement.
40. From 1 April, the Government will update guidance setting out the ongoing steps that people with COVID-19 should take to minimise contact with other people. This will align with the changes to testing set out later in this chapter.
